Ohio Minister Gets Jail Term

Pastor Sentenced to 6 Months in Prison

CINCINNATI (AP) — Stung by a scathing denunciation of their client by a federal judge, attorneys for a pacifist minister were ready today to fight on — whether their disciple of civil disobedience likes it or not.

The attack on the Rev. Maurice F. McCrackin by Judge John H. Druffel came between the time a jury convicted the minister and the judge sentenced him to six months in a federal prison and fined him $250. Rev. McCrackin was convicted Friday of refusing to answer an Internal Revenue Service summons to discuss his refusal to pay federal income taxes.

Judge Druffel told the 53-year-old bachelor minister — still gaunt from a 15-day jail-cell fast: "Your pious attitude is more or less of a false face."

Then, after accusing Rev. McCrackin of being a "pacifist agitator" and of associating "with those of overwhelming Soviet sympathies," the judge added: "I don't know of any more pious traitor than that."

Although he was a court appointed attorney who has served without pay, co-counsel Theodore M. Berry leaped to his feet in protest.

"As an officer of this court," he shouted, "the court is guilty of a grievous error. There is not one iota of proof that Rev. McCrackin is a Communist."

Berry and his co-counsel, Prof. Fred G. Dewey of the University of Cincinnati, were asked immediately after court adjourned if they planned to appeal. Berry shot back headily:

"You're damned right. What else can we do?"

Internal Revenue Service officials presented all the testimony for the prosecution; only a handful of character witnesses appeared for the defense.

The entire trial was an off-beat affair. Through it all, Rev. McCrackin remained serene — and silent. He refused to stand in court, plead to the indictment, defend himself or help his attorneys.

Fred Seaton Denies Resignation Rumors

HONOLULU (AP) — Fred A. Seaton returns to Washington today firmly denying a report that he intends to resign as secretary of the Interior.

Seaton said the report probably arose from a misunderstanding. He said he told Charles Parniter, political reporter for the Honolulu Star-Bulletin that he has no intention of pursuing a political career after 1960 and, "I have told reporters that in each of the 48 states."

Parniter said Seaton had volunteered that he intended to resign soon.

Seaton was in Honolulu to address Friday's closing conference of Republican leaders of 12 Western states and Hawaii.

Herron Rejects Zoning Board Post; Piersol Appointed

Leonard Piersol, assistant traffic manager of the E. W. Bliss Co., has been named to the city zoning board in place of Gail Herron who declined his appointment to the post.

In a letter sent to the board, Herron said he felt compelled to reject the appointment because his firm, the Herron Transfer Co., does business with the city.

Herron was named to the post Nov. 26.

Piersol will serve a two-year term on the board.

The other civilian member of the board is Mrs. G. E. Farrington of 525 S. Lincoln Ave.

Donald Cannon and Harold Astory represent City Council on the board, and planning commissioners A. P. Morris and Ray Lowry complete the board's complement.

The zoning officer is F. S. Barkhoff, acting city engineer.

Many Areas in Ohio Below Zero Again

By The Associated Press

Many Ohio areas had sub-zero temperatures again Friday night and early today, and more chills are on the way.

Coldest spot on the records of the Weather Bureau in Columbus was at Pandora in Putnam County, where the temperature hit 9 below. Some other temperatures included zero at Akron, 4 below at Dayton, 3 below at Toledo, Cincinnati 5, Cleveland 3, Columbus 1, Youngstown 5, Zanesville 3, Chesapeake 13, and Marietta 11.

There were some light snow flurries at Bellaire, Columbus and Zanesville. The large high pressure area dominating the Midwest and Great Lakes regions will again bring sub-zero temperatures to Ohio Saturday night and possibly Sunday night.

The Weather Bureau's forecast also said cloudiness will be variable over the state with occasional very light snow flurries, except in the northeast counties where there may be some accumulation.

One of the most appealing chapters of the eternal story of Christmas is the odyssey of the "Wise Men from the East," who followed the light of a star to find and worship the Child of Bethlehem.

the anti-Communist city 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

Secretary of State Dulles flew from Washington at 9:17 a.m. on the presidential plane Columbine III. Before leaving the U.S. capital he had accused Moscow of going back on its own pledges when Premier Khrushchev proposed to make West Berlin an unarmored free city.

Selwyn Lloyd of Britain, Maurice Couve de Murville of France and Heinrich von Brentano of West Germany will meet with Dulles Sunday to begin studying Khrushchev's Thanksgiving Day note.

Any decisions they reach will be reported to foreign ministers of the other 11 Atlantic Alliance nations, who are expected to join in a united front against the Soviet move. The regular December meeting of NATO foreign ministers and other officials opens in Paris Tuesday.

Berlin was not on the official agenda for the NATO meeting but was certain to assume a large place in the discussions. Preliminary talks within NATO have indicated support for a firm stand by the big powers.

There was a wide variety of opinion, however, on just how this firmness should be expressed in the formal answer to Khrushchev. Washington, London and Paris have made it plain in their informal comments that they do not intend to be pressured out of Berlin, where they have maintained troops since the end of World War II by joint agreements signed by the Russians.

Khrushchev gave the West six months to get out of West Berlin. He said if they had not left in that time, he would turn over to Communist East Germany control of Western access to the city. The West refused to recognize or deal with the Red regime.

In what has come to be regarded as an annual Soviet threatening note just before the NATO meeting, Russia warned Thursday that any Western attempt to cross East Germany without the satellite regime's permission would be considered aggression against the entire Soviet bloc. A nuclear war could result, the Soviet news agency Tass said.

Christmas Sales Put Zip Into U. S. Economy

Heavy Snows Hurt Holiday Sales in Some Large Cities

NEW YORK (AP) — A vigorous upsurge in Christmas buying put new zip in the nation's economy this week.

Heavy snow smothered Christmas sales in some cities and a newspaper strike stymied sales promotion efforts in New York.

But for the nation as a whole the outlook was for a 3 to 4 per cent rise over last year's Christmas volume.

Electric power consumption climbed to a record high of more than 13 billion kilowatt-hours as the main streets and shopping centers of America turned on the Christmas lights.

Detroit contributed to the winter upturn. Auto production again topped the 140,000 mark and if Chrysler Corp. plants hadn't been hobbled by strikes, the total would have reached 150,000. Chevrolet and Rambler set new production highs.

Highest Since October Steel output was the highest since October.

Likewise encouraging were the latest figures on jobs and paychecks. Unemployment held steady from mid-October to mid-November instead of showing the usual seasonal rise. Increased hiring by industry offset cold weather cutbacks in farming and construction. Average weekly earnings of factory workers punched to an all-time high.

Stock sales totaled 19,094,914 shares in the latest week compared to 17,565,462 in the previous week and 11,487,210 shares in the same 1957 week.

Bond sales had a par value of $32,377,500 in the latest week, $31,890,000 in the previous week and $30,035,000 in the corresponding week a year ago.

The news about employment was good for just about everybody except the 3,800,000 Americans who wanted work and couldn't get it. Unemployment was less than 3,200,000 a year ago.

College students who expect to graduate next June may be offered slightly higher starting salaries than those who got their sheepskins this year. And jobs should be more plentiful for them.

So says Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., after a survey of business hiring intentions. Starting salaries will run about two per cent higher, averaging $480 a month for engineers, $422 for accountants, $419 for salesmen and $413 for business trainees.

Northern Ohio Roads Snow-Covered, Slippery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's primary highways are snow-covered and slippery north of Cleveland, Chardon and Ashtabula, the Ohio Department of Highways reported today.

The following areas are slippery in spots: Mansfield, Akron, Ravenna, St. Clairsville, Hillsboro, Chillicothe, Portsmouth, McArthur, Athens, and Marietta.

Secondary roads are generally slippery throughout the state.

The Ohio Turnpike is reported normal.

Former Pope's Doctor Barred From Practice

Pius XII's Physician Termed Unethical By Italian Council

ROME (AP) — The personal physician of the late Pope Pius XII has been barred from practicing medicine in Italy for selling newspaper articles and photographs on the Pope's death.

Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi issued a statement saying he would appeal the action taken by the Council of the Rome Medical Assn. Friday night. He declared the verdict had emitted and startled him.

Galeazzi-Lisi said he would "naturally provide for the defense of my reputation before competent authorities"—a mixed board of doctors and magistrates. He said he had given the council a clear explanation of his action. He will be allowed to practice after appealing, pending final ruling.

The medical association's 14-member council questioned the doctor behind locked doors for 20 minutes before it issued its verdict.

Galeazzi-Lisi brushed by newsmen without a word when he left the association's headquarters.

He previously had maintained his conscience was at rest and he had not betrayed any professional medical secrets concerning Pope Pius, who died Oct. 9. Once a patient dies, a physician is free to discuss his case, Galeazzi-Lisi contended.

The council accused Galeazzi-Lisi of seeking "to achieve profit." It added he "gravely compromised his own reputation and the dignity of the medical class."

"The actions . . . constitute an infraction of medical ethics because a professional physician cannot divulge facts which he learned through his professional activity," the council said.

Galeazzi-Lisi's articles, based on a diary he kept while attending the stricken pontiff, appeared about 10 days after the Pope died. Some Italian newspapers bought the articles but later decided not to print them.

With the articles stirring an uproar, Galeazzi-Lisi resigned as director of the Vatican health services. The medical association then started an investigation.

Sen. Johnson Against 'Forced Integration'

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) told questioning college students here Friday that he is against "forced integration."

"But," the senator added, "I wish the hotheads on both sides would give us a chance to evolve a solution."

He told San Angelo College students that he believed the Civil Rights Commission has subpoena powers. And although professing opposition to "forced integration," he added: "We're a little late in our section in recognizing that all men are created equal."

Johnson made his remarks on the eve of a scheduled speech Sunday in Houston, Tex., by Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas. He said he was sorry Faubus mobilized the National Guard in Little Rock, but added:

"I regret even more that the President of the United States pushed a button and sent in paratroopers."

He discussed the Civil Rights Commission in connection with the refusal of election officials in some Alabama counties to produce their registration records for that federal agency.

"I think without question the commission has the authority (to subpoena the records), and I do think in time they (the Alabama officials) will recognize it," Johnson said.

"I voted for the civil rights bill because I think everyone ought to have the right to vote, whether he's white or brown or black."

Election Expense Filing Deadline Friday

Organized Labor Spent $2,494 In County Drive

United Organized Labor of Columbiana County spent $2,494 in the successful statewide fight against a so-called "right to work" amendment at the Nov. 4 election, according to a report filed with the County Election Board.

The report was filed by Charles L. Hinchcliff, chairman, showing the organization made its campaign headquarters at 134 S. Broadway.

It showed receipts of $2,538, mostly in contributions from local unions. The report said $2,464 in bills already has been paid, with $66.03 still to be settled. It added that there is a $30 balance in the fund that will be applied toward the unpaid bills.

The report is one of a series filed with the Election Board by candidates and committees as an aftermath of the general election. The deadline for the reports, required by state law, is next Friday at 4 p.m.

Two reports were filed showing that $1,535 was spent in the unsuccessful campaign of John F. Kelly of Lisbon, a Democrat, who sought the state representative's seat from Columbiana County.

The John F. Kelly for State Representative Committee said it spent $1,079, most of it received from labor organizations. The report was filed by Raymond Lowry, chairman.

Meanwhile, Kelly reported personal expenses of $455.85 in the campaign. A third report accounted for $200 given the Kelly for Representative Committee by the Ohio State Association of the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe-Fitting Industry. The $200 also was accounted for in the committee's report of $1,079.

Richard G. Brian of East Liverpool, Republican, said he spent $711.81 in his unsuccessful campaign to remain in an interim appointment as county commissioner.

New Waterford Council reported it spent $9 in support of a $35,000 bond issue to finance a sewer system and disposal plant. The report was filed by Mayor Carl Welch. Felix Butch of Lisbon, chairman of the Committee for the Children's Home, reported $364 spent in support of a $125,000 bond issue to build a county receiving home for juveniles.

The St. Clair Township trustees reported they spent nothing in support of a seven-tenths mill levy to finance a zoning plan. J. Neil McIntosh, clerk, submitted the report. Madison Township trustees also reported no expenses in support of a proposed fire protection levy. Charles Snyder, chairman, filed the report.

Army's Search For Passenger Is Abandoned

Rocket Hits Target But 'Little Traveler' Lost in Atlantic

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army flung a tiny monkey into space today but lost it in the south Atlantic.

Six hours after the monkey began its journey in the nose cone of a Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile the Army announced that the search for the little space traveler had been abandoned.

It was the first attempt by the United States to put a primate—a higher type of mammal—into space to start a determination of the effects of space travel upon man.

The nose cone of the Jupiter with its cozy cabin for the squirrel monkey reached an altitude of 600 miles on its roaring trip from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The Army reported the 1,500-mile flight was completely successful.

Mishap In Recovery

But, it said, "there appears to have been a mishap in the tricky recovery gear which is carried in the nose cone to assist search plans and ships" in recovery efforts.

Brig. Gen. J. A. Barclay, commander of the Army missile agency, said observers on naval vessels stationed in the target area reported seeing three sections of the Jupiter reenter the earth's atmosphere. But, he said, they were unable to locate them in the south Atlantic.

Barclay said the parts reentering the atmosphere were the booster stage rocket of the big Jupiter missile, the instrument compartment containing guidance devices and the nose cone itself.

Despite failure to recover the monkey from the ocean depths, the flight provided much information on the effects of space travel on a higher order of animal.

If all had gone well the submerged cone and its precious cargo should have been retrieved from the Atlantic in the space of about two hours at the most.

In Washington, Capt. Norman Lee Barr of the Navy Medical Corps said information radioed back from the monkey's flight indicated gravity free travel does not cause adverse physical change, change.

Barr called this the most significant finding so far in the monkey's rocket flight. He said information was received for nearly 15 minutes after launching, or for almost the full flight of the rocket.

Nearly two hours after the launching, Brig. Gen. Jack Barclay, commanding general of the

Convicted Officer Seeks New Trial

LISBON — A motion for a new trial was filed Friday by counsel for Louis (Mike) Stutler, 35, former East Liverpool police officer convicted by a Common Pleas Jury Thursday of the June 10, 1954 burglary of the Burbick Hardware Store in East Liverpool.

Atty. Sam Chertoff of East Liverpool based his request for a new trial on eight points.

He claimed the verdict was not sustained by sufficient evidence and was contrary to law. He said Raymond Buzzard in his charge to the jury were prejudicial to the defendant, and claimed the judge had also erred in overruling a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty.

No date was set for a hearing on the motion.

Bible Words for Today

ROMANS 10:8-9 — "The word is near you, on your lips and in your heart" (that is, the word of faith which we preach); because, if you confess with your lips that Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved. (RSV)

Captives in the power of sin and death, we can only be rescued by the historic and present act of God in Christ Jesus. To this gift of salvation we respond, not by accomplishments of our own which are evaluated and credited to us, but by confessing our faith in Jesus Christ as divine Lord and Savior. This seems a small, easy, and insignificant thing, but countless Christian witnesses have shown us how important it is — as does St. Paul's testimony in Romans. Confession of faith is the activated Word of God which gives us strength to live and through which we participate in the victory over death. It is our mark of recognition of a fellow Christian and the true basis for our common efforts. It may seem so little to ask, but its true value is recognized by the enemy of the faith — and by God.

A Good Day for Ducks

It was the worst morning in several winters.

Not that it was so cold; the temperature hovered at the freezing point but an unexpected warming trend had taken the bite out of the air.

To be sure, the sun had risen, but, of course, the sun always rises; it was up there in the sky, somewhere. There was no evidence it would be seen throughout the day.

During the night, a dense fog had managed to capture from the atmosphere every particle of dirt, gas and soot from miles around, and now it concentrated its suffocating grip on the entire area.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

The Amazing Power of Enthusiasm

Like so many people, I am always trying to keep my weight down. And it's not easy, but I have found that when I'm away from home lecturing I can reduce my caloric intake by eating lightly before my talk. Then after speaking it's too late to eat; so I go to bed, as a general rule, without eating anything. Although this produces a rather uncomfortable emptiness, the smug satisfaction of cutting off a pound compensates.

Dr. Peale

But on one recent occasion I couldn't resist stopping at a lunch counter near my hotel for a very small snack before going to bed. It was a small place and behind the counter there was a big, husky fellow who looked as though he enjoyed his own wares. His sleeves were rolled up to display his tanned and brawny arms and his head was covered by a tall chef's cap, set at a rakish angle. "Hello, brother," he said jovially as I sat down.

"How are you?" I responded. "What'll you have?" he asked.

"I THOUGHT ABOUT my waist-line and ordered a cup of black coffee and a dish of jello without whipped cream. "Why that?" he demanded.

"Well," I said weakly, "I'm watching my diet."

"Oh, that's no food for a man who's had a hard day," he insisted. "You need something like this." He reached to a shelf and brought out an uncut apple pie which he proudly showed to me. "Our pies are works of art," he declared. "That crust is made with real butter and melts in your mouth. And the apples are the best New York State has to offer. Just smell that cinnamon!"

And he held the pie right under my nose. It surely smelled good. I just couldn't resist and he cut me a generous piece.

Then he drew the coffee. As he put the cup down before me, he said: "You know, my friend, there's coffee and then again there's coffee. Get the smell and taste of that coffee I've put by your elbow. But you've never had anything so good."

Well, I ate the pie and drank the coffee. I'm sure I've had pie and coffee just as good if not better elsewhere, but the enthusiasm of that man behind the counter made it taste just as wonderful as he said it was. Certainly I had no regrets about breaking my diet. That man was a salesman — how different from so many dull and actually repel business.

I'VE WRITTEN ABOUT enthusiasm often and I intend to go on writing about this most important quality. I think it is one of the most important qualities anyone can have. It transforms people and their lives as well. It can even stimulate health.

I was talking about this subject to a leading physician recently and he told me something very interesting. He said that he had actually seen people die, not due to organic reasons, but basically because they had lost their enthusiasm. Had they only possessed the zest for life that enthusiasm connotes, they would have had the will to live. Then they could have risen above the physical difficulties that otherwise killed them. In a sense, then, enthusiasm is an elixir of life.

YOU CAN INJECT THE elixir of enthusiasm into your daily living, into every act you perform. You can be as enthusiastic about pie and coffee as my friend behind the lunch counter; you can be enthusiastic about your husband, wife, children, parents; you can be enthusiastic about every aspect of your life, great or small.

And this is exactly what the Bible tells us to do when it says: "This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it."

Mental Health Unit Seeks Aid

Group Discusses Recreational Program for County Home

The executive committee of the Columbiana County Mental Health Association met recently at the Hotel Wick in Lisbon to initiate an organized area service program in which community groups may participate.

Developments on the proposed recreational program for Columbiana County Home for the Aged were reviewed. In previous committee interviews, Russell Phillips superintendent of the home, expressed a need for organized group efforts. He suggested pleasure rides for ambulatory residents, birthday cards or other remembrances and pin money for material for recreational activities.

At the suggestion of the Mental Health Association, the county commissioners are converting a room into a chapel. The Ministerial Association will provide a cross for the chapel, and other civic-minded groups are invited to help carry on the program. Little expense would be involved. Anyone interested may contact the president, Bryce Kendall.

Also discussed was the possibility of asking some of the women's service clubs to conduct the spring membership campaign for the Mental Health Association.

Bill Weir, chairman of the speakers bureau, may be called by organizations who wish to present a program on mental health. The bureau can supply films on the topic, panelists, informal speakers and brochures.

The Rev. C. O. Armstrong was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Ed Dillon, treasurer of the association. Cornell Monda of Lisbon, will succeed the Rev. Armstrong on the board of directors.

Present at the meeting were Bryce Kendall and Paul Howard of Salem, Judge Louis Tobin and Paul Blair of East Liverpool, Mayor William Shoub of Wellsville; and the Rev. C. O. Armstrong and Mrs. Paul Hum of Lisbon.

JEREMY CHRISTMAS

A Yuletide Story

By Walter Scott

Fire Prevention Suggestions Listed By Chief Wright

Because the Christmas holiday season can be marred by a fire arising from the faulty selection, placement and maintenance of a Christmas tree, Fire Chief Clarence W. Wright today issued the following set of suggestions for local residents to use when erecting their trees.

1. Choose a small tree instead of a large one. A small tree can be just as pretty, less hazardous.
2. Keep the tree outdoors until you're ready to install it.
3. Don't set up the tree until just before Christmas.
4. Set up the tree in the coolest part of the house, away from radiators, heaters and fireplaces. Stand it in water to retard dryness.
5. Use fireproof decorations of glass- or metal, never cotton or paper decorations unless flame-proof.
6. Don't set up electric trains around or near the tree.
7. Use electric lights, never candles. Inspect every electric socket and wire to make sure it is in good condition. Discard sets with frayed wiring. When buying new sets, look for UL label of Underwriters Laboratories Inc.
8. Provide a switch at some distance from the tree for turning lights on and off.
9. Don't leave lights burning when away from home.
10. From time to time inspect the tree to see whether any of the needles near the lights have started to turn brown. If so, change the position of the lights.
11. When needles start falling take the tree down and discard it outdoors.
12. Gift wrappings should be discarded promptly after presents are opened.

Youngstown Guilty Of Extortion Attempt

CLEVELAND (AP)—An attempt to extort $50,000 from Leon A. Beeghly, Youngstown industrialist, last summer has resulted in a 10-year federal prison sentence for John T. Carey, 33, of Youngstown.

Carey had pleaded guilty to sending a letter to Beeghly July 31 threatening death to the industrialist and his family unless he dropped a package of cash at a designated spot on the Ohio Turnpike.

Industry Notes Slight Increase For November

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. industrial production, aided by a big boost in automobile manufacturing, increased by 2 per cent last month.

At the same time, building activity, retail sales and personal income climbed to highs.

Announcing this Friday, the Federal Reserve Board said its index of industrial production, an estimate of the output of the nation's mines, mills and factories, rose to 141 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

This is 15 points above the recession low last April and only four points under the prerecession peak in August 1957. Last month's figure is two points above that for November a year ago.

"A major advance in the automotive industry was accompanied by widespread gains throughout manufacturing," the board said in its monthly summary of business conditions.

Automobile production, with major strikes settled, more than doubled during November and assembly schedules for December indicate an additional increase, the board said.

Managed Economy Makes News

The Democratic Advisory Council's policy statement this week made news in several ways. For one, it drew a tart comment from Rep. Rayburn of Texas, speaker of the House of Representatives, who said no advisory group can make the decisions that are the responsibility of Congress.

It also made news because it was an attempt by an assorted group of Democrats to lay down a policy line in conflict with the views of other Democrats of equal political stature. Among the Democrats in the Advisory Council, however, were Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's twice-defeated presidential candidate, and Paul M. Butler, the chairman of its national committee. As policy makers, they have as much status as Rep. Rayburn, who resents them.

But the important news in the statement is the section on a politically managed economy — an idea that first appeared in the New Deal era.

The statement asserts that fiscal and monetary policies of the Eisenhower administration, and Federal Reserve Board are responsible for an unbalanced federal budget and a business recession. It declares that Congress should assume responsibility for expanding the economy rapidly enough to produce the revenue required to pay for all the welfare-state spending deemed desirable by the Advisory Council.

"If we restore and maintain a satisfactory rate of economic growth," says the Advisory Council, "the increases in production which are the ultimate sources of all wealth will more than cover the costs of these programs. In fact, public budgets designed to service these needed programs would in a fully expanding economy represent no larger, and most likely a smaller, part of our national production than the inadequate public programs of recent years have represented in a retarded economy."

That is a succinct statement of a politically managed economy's operation — to make private enterprise satisfy all the needs and requirements of the state.

It is the welfare-state twist to the adage that it is the duty of the people to support their government. It says, instead, that it is the duty of private enterprise to provide enough income for government to support the people. Government does not retrench. Taxpayers try to catch up to its stated needs.

"Government expenditures, keyed to our vital needs and resource capabilities, are in themselves a key factor in maximum economic growth," says the Advisory Council statement. "Conversely, maximum economic growth is essential to support the necessary level of vital government expenditures."

And to clinch its case, the Advisory Council points to the Soviet Union, whose national product has been increasing in recent years at an annual rate of 7 to 10 per cent. The average annual increase in the United States, asserts the statement, has been 1.3 per cent during the six years of the Eisenhower administration.

Therefore, in the managed-economy reasoning of people who think of the Soviet Union as the lodestar of managed economics, the United States must become more like Russia in order to prove its superiority to Communism.

Speaking of Frost

The deepest Frost this country ever had—Robert Frost, the poet—has some offbeat ideas about running things that Associated Press wheedled out of him in an interview.

One of them has a special appeal.

Poet Frost would like to be a statesman without running for office. We interpret this to mean he would like to help make a few important decisions without learning to think like a politician in order to get the chance. In plainer words, he would like to sing without singing for his supper. This is perhaps something that only a poet who is 84 and successful can afford to say.

But it is something many citizens have thought about oftener than usual as they noted throughout the Eisenhower administration what happened to people who tried to do something for their country without being politicians.

They were murdered, muddled, mangled and manhandled by the politicians, who have a closed society, admittance by paid-up membership card only, no outsiders need apply on pain of being held up to public ridicule for "not understanding the great game of politics."

Poet Frost is not the only one who yearns to sing for his country without learning to sing for a political party.

Kiwanis Generosity

The Memorial Building, Salem community center which is the scene of many civic activities and club meetings the year 'round, has received a $1,000 gift from the Kiwanis Club to finance installation of a new acoustical tile ceiling in the gymnasium-auditorium.

Because it is primarily a gym, the room is naturally high, but too high to offer the best acoustics when meetings are being conducted. If it were possible to lower the ceiling and then put on the new tile, the "barnish" atmosphere of the spacious room would be overcome and the public, generally would be pleased.

The Memorial Building board has little money for repairs and maintenance, so the Kiwanis Club's $1,000 gift is a generous one, coming at a time when the Memorial Building directors are seeking a few extra funds to make some needed improvements.

Musical Inspiration

Always a high point of the holiday season here, the Christmas Vespers of the Salem Senior High School music department will be presented to the public Sunday afternoon in the gymnasium of the new school.

For this 13th annual concert, the boys and girls of the Robed Choir, Mixed Chorus and Girls Choir have been rehearsing almost nightly, blending their voices in the "Hallelujah Chorus" and other sacred and secular numbers so inspiring to us all at this time of the year. You won't want to miss the concert Sunday at 3:30.

Christmas Trees

One of life's nicest problems is the choice of a Christmas tree and, as always, the tree just selected is the best ever. Once bedecked in all its tinsel glory, the tree becomes a focal point for the family during the holidays.

A joyous Christmas is a safe Christmas, so make sure that your tree lights are properly wired. Don't overload your electrical circuits and after gifts are unwrapped remove all refuse from around the tree. The danger of a tree catching fire is always present and could mean disaster.

Sharing With Others

The holiday season is one of hospitality, of giving and sharing. It is a time when the Christmas spirit brings out the best in us.

People want to share with others the joys that abound in the anniversary celebration of the birth of the Christ child. Many civic groups step forward at this time of the year to help man the Salvation Army kettles on downtown Salem streets, including city firemen, Legionnaires and Veterans of Foreign Wars, Lions and Jaycees. They seek no credit for their volunteer service but they do hope the public will respond with donations to assure needy families and underprivileged children a happier day on Dec. 25. Contributions to date, according to Lt. Grace Lynch of the Salvation Army, are lagging behind what was given a year ago.

THIS IS SEASON when many people buy dogs as Christmas gifts and without care it can be rough on both pooches and buyers. Pups can get into homes where right attention is impossible or most difficult.

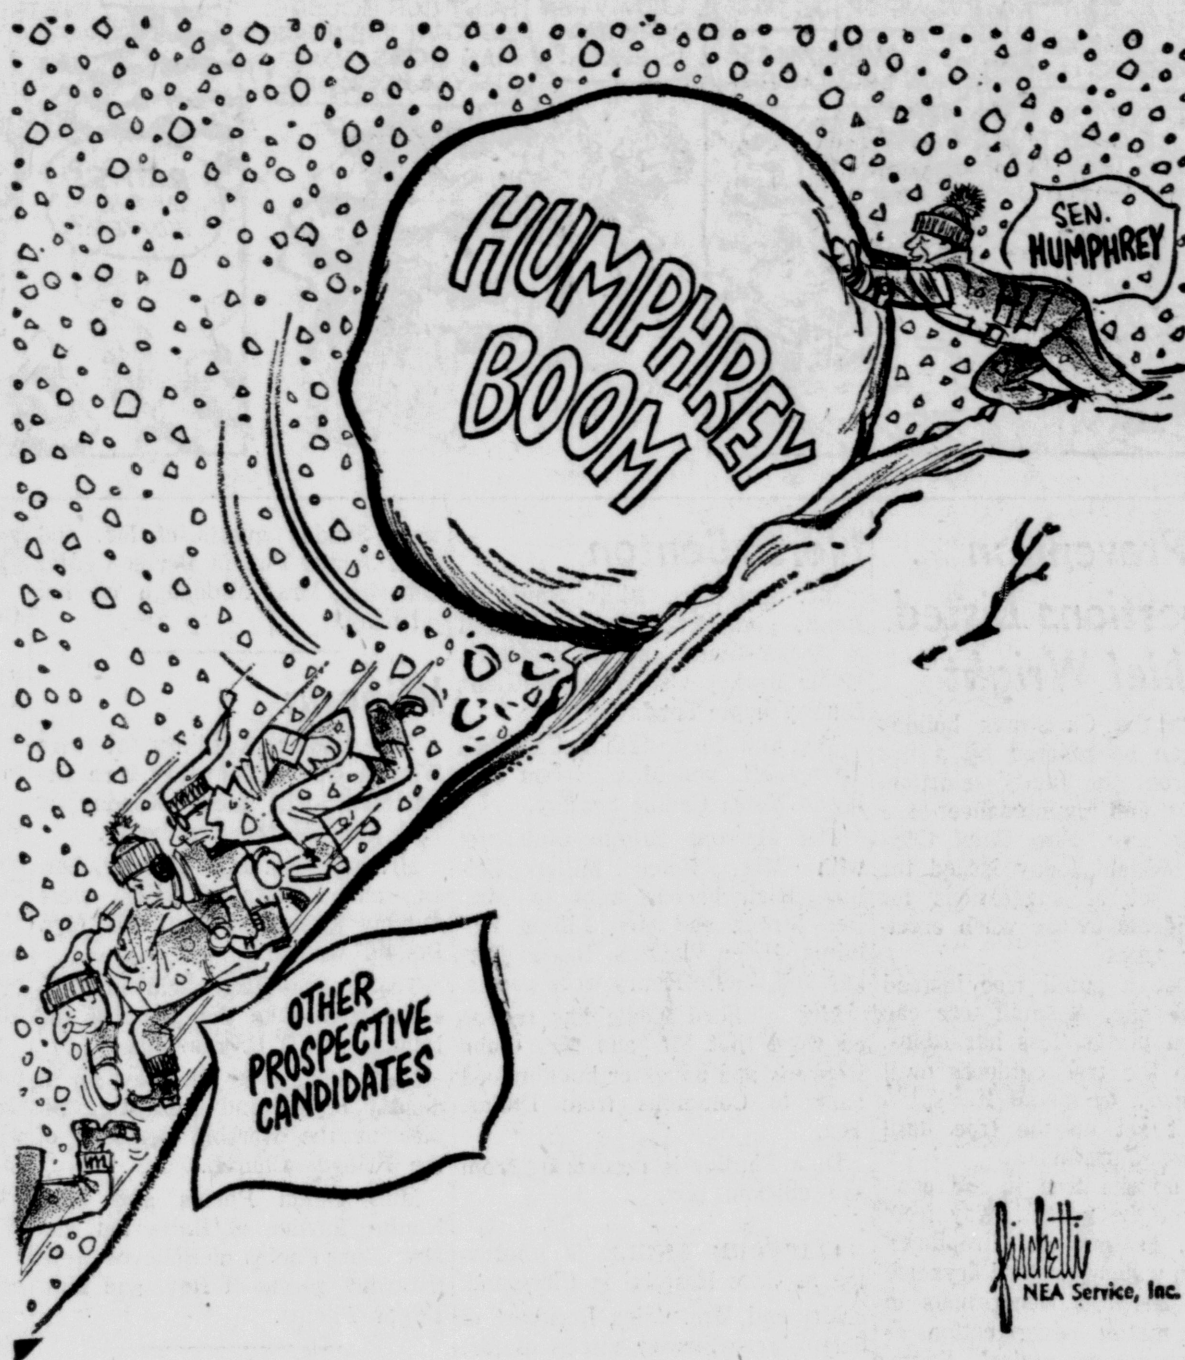

Buyers can make a bad choice through buying a puppy without careful inspection. Close to top importance are eyes, which frequently get injured in puppy friskiness in crowded basket or window.

Look into eyes carefully to make sure there are no damaged areas or suspicious spots.

Malformations at point where nose and upper mouth meet should also be looked for. Puppy which shows no pep or only moderate playfulness can be sick.

Eisenhower's Indecision

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has consistently side-stepped saying whether he thinks racial integration in public schools is good or bad. He did say it should go slower.

He's been less consistent in deciding how to enforce the Supreme Court's 1955 order for ending enforced segregation. And he seems as vague today about handling Southern resistance as he was when the court first spoke.

This showed up again Wednesday at his news conference.

He said in the past he had taken an oath to enforce the laws. But as recently as Sept. 11, 1956, he seemed to think he himself couldn't do anything, that the job was up to U.S. marshals.

That day he said: "The federal government is not allowed to go into any state unless called upon by the governor who must show that he is unable to preserve order."

And on July 17, 1957, he was saying "I can't imagine any set of circumstances" that would ever induce him to send troops into a state to back up the court. He added that day: "I believe the common sense of America will never require it."

He reversed his field a couple of months later when Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas used National Guardsmen to block the court-ordered integration of Little Rock's Central High School. Then Eisenhower sent in troops, not at Faubus' request but over his protests.

Eisenhower's main theme on achieving integration is that it is a slow process. He has talked of patience, of educating people on the issues. He has said laws can't change the hearts or prejudices of people.

But Wednesday he showed impatience with people who don't obey the law. He was asked how he feels about the refusal of Alabama officials to produce voting records demanded by the government's Commission on Civil Rights.

The commission, created by act of Congress, is investigating complaints of Alabama Negroes that state authorities have frustrated their attempts to register and vote.

Eisenhower said: "Well, I don't feel very well about it. . . . I think this is a rather sad sort of thing, because all the way around we are running into this refusal of complying with the basic laws of the land, laws that have been upheld by our courts as legal and proper."

He called the performance of the Alabama officials "reprehensible."

But does he have any plans himself for handling Southern resistance, such as asking Congress for new laws? He was asked the question: "Do you favor new legislation to bring about the enforcement of integration?"

Eisenhower seemed to have no plans at all, beyond saying he thought the commission should be allowed more time to do the job of inquiring into civil rights violations. The commission's two-year term ends next year.

He said: "Now, with respect to any new laws which you are talking about in the whole field of civil rights, I simply will say this: This is something that is studied all the time."

Just where will all the studying lead to? Eisenhower said, "I don't know."

But Wednesday's anger at those who don't comply with the laws was not the same as the attitude he expressed last Aug. 8 when he said: "Mere laws will never solve this problem."

Ruling Hits Unions

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Labor Groups Are Violating Constitution

Compulsory membership in a labor union where dues and other fees are used, without the consent of union members, to aid in the election of public officials is a violation of the Constitution of the United States according to a decree formally issued this week by a Superior Court in the State of Georgia.

Judge O. L. Long, after presiding at a trial involving nine railroads and 15 unions, issued his written opinion on Dec. 8. He writes:

"Said exaction and use of money and said union shop agreements and their enforcement are contrary to the Constitution, the law and public policy of this state, and are contrary to the statutes or laws of other states in which the defendant railroads operate."

"Said exaction and use of money, said union shop agreements and Sec. 2 of the Railway Labor Act and their enforcement violate the United States Constitution which in the First, Fifth, Ninth and Tenth Amendments thereto guarantees to individuals protection from such unwarranted invasion of their personal and property rights — including freedom of association, freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom of work, and their political freedom and rights — under the cloak of federal authority. . . .

"The labor-union defendants by their commingling of funds used for collective bargaining purposes and activities and those used for the complained of purposes and activities set forth above have made it impossible to segregate the amount of dues collected from plaintiffs and the class they represent which are and will be used for the complained of purposes and activities set forth above."

THE COURT further decreed that the unions should pay back to the employees the dues they had paid under protest and under threat of loss of their jobs. The decree adds:

"This decree and order shall operate as an adjudication of the basic common rights asserted by plaintiffs in their own behalf and on behalf of other employees of the defendant railroads similarly situated."

The decree issued in Georgia is not based on the so-called "right to work" law of the State of Georgia but on the federal Constitution and particularly on the federal law governing collective bargaining on common carriers.

Purely Personal

By TRUMAN TWILL

I contend that the reaction of an automobile driver to being stuck in deep snow is an index to personality. It is one situation that cannot be handled by a burst of power; it takes finesse.

Glib articles about the reasons women work annoy me, because they ignore two important elements — the fact there are so many jobs that women can do better than men and the fact women have a need to be useful and busy.

Nothing reveals an older's infirmities half so vividly as the aches and pains that show up after using a snow shovel for 20 minutes.

A reader who says this column has been revealing a state of melancholy lately is probably right. December is a melancholic time of the year — an extension of the melancholy days that start in November.

I feel sorry when there is snow on the ground for kids who never will know how much fun it used to be to hook kids on bobsleds driven by good-natured farmers who sometimes would invite a boy to make himself comfortable in the straw that filled the wagonbed.

There is no cause to be puzzled because the federal government cannot reduce its budget. This is a representative democracy. The overwhelming majority of U.S. citizens want the federal government to spend more.

The trend away from outsized automobiles to compact automobiles strikes me as the same trend that did away with outsized houses in favor of smaller houses easier to operate and cheaper to maintain.

If we spent as much time analyzing our own government leaders as we spend worrying about the leaders of the Soviet Union, we would have a clearer idea of what is going on in our own country.

It is hard to think of any place where a telephone is a greater convenience than it is in a hospital room.

When in doubt, as an expert. Men who shovel snow for a living prefer long-handled shovels of moderate size. They expect to be at it for eight hours or more.

I never have seen a satisfactory explanation of what happens to commuters when railroads get tired of losing money on commuter service that cannot be made to pay, yet is indispensable for those still using it.

This may be something everyone else knows, but after years of

The facts in the case were "stipulated" in advance by both sides, so there is no question but that money collected in some manner from union members has been used for political purposes.

The issue of whether this violated the federal Corrupt Practices Act, which prohibits labor unions and corporations from contributing to political campaigns for the election of federal officials, was not involved in the case.

The court merely said it could not differentiate between the sums collected for strictly union purposes and those "exacted from the plaintiffs" for political campaigns and came to the conclusion that the consent of the contributors had not been obtained.

ONE WAY OUT for the unions, of course, is to segregate their funds in such a way that union dues are not used for political purposes and only voluntary contributions are employed in campaigns.

Basically, it is questionable whether the federal corrupt practices laws are constitutional, for they interfere with the right of a citizen or group of citizens to express political views through contributions.

The Georgia case does not concern the right to contribute voluntarily but only the forced contribution and the penalty imposed — loss of a job unless union requirements are fulfilled.

The fundamental issue is really compulsory unionization. The so-called "right to work" laws have been mischievously misrepresented as being a method of "busting" unions or of prohibiting collective bargaining.

The truth is that federal laws protect collective bargaining and the unionized shop in which a majority of employees belong to a union. The term "union shop," as used nowadays in labor parlance, means an all-union shop and this provides that anyone who refuses to belong to the union or pay dues has to be fired by the employer.

The worker may have conscientious objections to joining a labor union but he must do so or, if he doesn't join, he must submit to a tax — the payment of the expenses of the union.

He gives up his right to bargain as an individual and, under "union shop" agreements, he must pay a penalty besides in the form of dues assessments.

The controversy now has taken the form of what use is made of the dues.

The Georgia court—with a strong hint taken from a recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States to back up the ruling — now says that a man cannot be forced against his will in free America to pay tribute to a political party or to a private organization whose viewpoint he does not share.

unsuccessful efforts to keep my hands warm in cold weather I have learned how to do it with two pairs of cheap jersey gloves — the kind that still can be bought for the price of a sundae.

All right, if you're so farsighted and forehanded, did you set out the tulip bulbs before the ground froze? Isn't it a little on the unusual side that the British call their juvenile delinquents "Teddy boys," in honor of Queen Victoria's cold-est boy, who was a famous cut-up before he became Edward VII?

I am impressed by the aptitude women show as grass-roots workers in politics and predict that within 50 years they will be pulling all the strings once pulled by jowly cigar-chewing "bosses" of the opposite sex.

Some day when I have time to kill I am going to check the claim that hot water freezes faster than cold water. I suspect this may be unprovable like the claim that fish and ice cream would be fatal if eaten together. I was cheated out of a lot of ice cream before I proved the claim was false.

Santa and the ELF BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Esteban sent the blue bird for help but a hawk captured her. After thinking for two days, Esteban tricked the professor into leaving the door unbolted. He runs from the room.

THROUGH THE TRAP DOOR

(Chapter Nine)

As soon as Esteban escaped from the room he found himself lost in the endless corridors of the castle.

"I must find the professors work room," he thought frantically. "But where?"

As he crept down the stairs he heard steps running up them. It was Professor Szilki carrying five hot water bottles for Charlotte.

Esteban hurried back the way he had come. There was a sofa in the corridor. He threw himself on it and covered himself with pillows.

A moment later the professor hurried by. When he had turned the corner Esteban leaped up and again dashed down the stairs. He rushed from room to room, from floor to floor, searching for the workroom. There was no sign of it.

AT LAST he came to the ground floor and a door that would not open. He knew this was the room.

"Come now," said the Professor, "Give me the bottle."

Far above, he heard a door bang and running steps and he knew the professor had discovered the trick. Esteban ran through the great hall to the front door of the castle. Free at last, he was tempted to keep right on running out of the castle grounds.

Instead he stumbled through the shrubbery to the windows of the workroom. He put his face against the glass and there on a table he saw, at last, the clear glass bottle he was searching for.

It held the gas that would destroy Fairyland.

Snatching up a rock Esteban smashed the window. He scrambled into the room. Snatching the bottle from the table he ran back to the window.

But suddenly there was a grinding noise and an iron screen slid down the wall and blocked the window.

"WHAT'S THAT?" cried Esteban, falling back.

"That," said Professor Szilki at the door, "is one of my inventions to protect my workroom. You see, I had only to press this button to screen the window. Come now, give me the bottle."

Slowly the professor moved across the room towards the boy. With every step the professor took towards him Esteban took one away. Three times they circled the room until finally the professor stood still. Suddenly he leaned down and yanked at the rug on which the boy stood.

Taken by surprise, Esteban fell backwards and the professor grabbed him.

"See how easily I have taken you," smiled the professor. But he had not taken him after all for Esteban kicked and squirmed and broke away still clutching the bottle.

"How foolish you are," said the professor. "The bottle in your hands almost broke. Should it break the gas will escape now instead of later as I plan. Then what would you have accomplished?"

Esteban stood on the other side of the table gasping for breath. "Suppose it does break!" he thought with horror. "Instead of saving all my friends I will be the one who destroys them. Oh, what shall I do?"

THE PROFESSOR came to the other side of the table. He put his finger on a button.

"I shall count three," he said. "If by then you have not given me the bottle I shall cause you to fall and break the bottle."

He sighed and began to count. "One!"

Esteban's legs shook. His mouth went dry.

"Two!"

Esteban's heart seemed to stand still.

"Three!"

The professor pushed the button and a trap door beneath Esteban sprang open, dropping him through the floor.

But at the very instant he fell he thought, "I must save the bottle!" Just as he disappeared he threw the bottle up into the waiting hands of the professor.

A Present for God

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Here's a present for Aunt Susie and Uncle Bill, for Cousin Kate and old Mrs. Higgins. But is there a present for God?

Foolish, you say? How could one possibly give God a Christmas present? Well, you can't give Him a package tied in bright paper and shining ribbon. But you can present to Him the gift of remembrance.

During your busy holiday season, stop for a moment to take stock of your life. Ask yourself what is really important about the Christmas season—and you'll know that He is.

Pause, even when you're rushed, to say a little prayer to Him! Christmas, after all, is His birthday. Can you do less than remember Him?

Quakers Unimpressive In Whipping Columbiana 69-49

Deitch, Krichbaum Capture Scoring Laurels As Locals Register Second Straight

The Salem Quakers won their second straight game of the year and their 21st regular season game in succession last night at Columbiana as they defeated the Columbiana Clippers 69-49 in a contest marked with loose play and numerous foul calls.

The game was close for three periods with Salem leading 43-41 going into the last quarter. In the final eight minutes the Quakers

Salem, East Tech Tickets Now on Sale

A total of 454 reserved seat tickets in the east section for the Salem-Cleveland East Tech game here Dec. 26 are now on sale at Fisher's News Agency and Heddleston's Drug Store, Athletic Director Fred E. Cope announced today.

Cope said additional tickets will be available on the west side providing East Tech does not use the allotment originally provided them.

scored 21 points to the home team's eight to turn a close tilt into a lopsided win.

Woody Deitch and Dan Krichbaum spearheaded Salem's scoring attack, aided considerably by Dave Hunter and Lou Slaby.

Deitch rimmed 20 points while Krichbaum had 19 and Slaby and Hunter 14 each.

Gary Perkins with 15 and Ray Baltz with 12 led the losers.

THE FINAL SCORE was no indication of the trouble the Quakers sustained in accomplishing their victory.

Columbiana's inexperienced but spirited band of cagers carried the fight to the veteran Salem team for 24 minutes. The Clippers lost their chance for a big upset in the last period by cashing in on only two of 14 field goal tries and four fouls while making but eight points.

A nonpartisan spectator at the game probably would have had trouble distinguishing which team was more experienced.

Salem's heavily favored crew missed many shots right underneath the basket and made but 11 of 24 foul shots. They missed their mark on loads of passes and permitted Columbiana time and again to penetrate too far before checking closely.

BOTH COACHES played cat and mouse in setting up their defenses. At the flip of a coin the Quakers would switch from a man to man defense to a zone and vice versa, while the Clippers played a man to man defense basically but at the same time clogged up the middle of Salem's attack zone.

The game was wild during the first half. In the second half the teams somewhat settled down in their rapid offensive maneuvers but the game was nevertheless tinted with full court passes, many easy missed shots and rapid exchanges of the ball.

Columbiana took an opening 2-0 lead on a field goal by Perkins and with 5:35 left in the first quarter led Salem 5-1.

At this point the Quakers began pressing the Clippers as the Columbiana team took the ball out of bounds. Once the home team got the ball down the floor, Salem fell back into a zone.

This confused the Clippers as Salem repeatedly stole the ball. Coupled with a very effective fast break in these few minutes, Salem took the lead to stay at 8-7 at the 2:57 mark on a jump shot by Deitch.

Before it was over, Salem had tallied 11 more points to go in front 19-7. The quarter ended 19-9. The Clippers never recovered from this burst. The closest they got thereafter was 48-41 as the third frame ended.

SALEM could not pull away from the Clippers in the second quarter because they let their foes advance too far before checking them.

The Quakers missed lots of shots underneath in the second quarter and only managed to stop the Clippers when they could set up a sound defense. The Clippers kept in close contention, flinging long passes and keeping Salem on the run.

Each team scored 15 points in the third period. Salem led 46-32 with 3:44 left in this frame, but the Clippers rallied in the time remaining to outpoint the Quakers 9-2 and come back within seven.

Columbiana's clogging of the center lane in this frame hampered the Quakers considerably.

The Quakers didn't get rolling to any extent until the last period. Helping them along their way in the final frame was effective shooting by Deitch and Krichbaum and a complete offensive collapse by Columbiana. Columbiana didn't score a field goal in the last period until the 3:27 mark.

TWO PLAYERS fouled out for Salem in the last quarter with Jim Lehard leaving the scene at 4:46 and Hunter at 3:58.

The Quakers went into a deliberate style in the final two minutes and were able to capitalize on the maneuver for three more field goals.

Columbiana shot 32 percent in making 20 of 62 field goal attempts. The Clippers hit 4 of 18 in the first quarter, 7 of 17 in the second and 7 of 13 and 2 of 14, respectively, in the final two frames.

Salem hit on 13 of 33 in the first half and 16 of 28 in the second half for a total of 29 of 61 or 47.5 percent.

Although the Quakers won by 20 points, they were unimpressive in beating a team that was considerably less experienced.

Salem will be on the road again next Tuesday at East Palestine and will not return home until Dec. 26 against Cleveland East Tech.

Salem led 10-6 at the end of the quarter. The Clippers did not score at all in the second frame and Salem held a 16-6 intermission lead.

The Quakers got their offensive rolling in the second half as Coach Zellers emptied his bench in the course of the romp.

Jim Johnston, shortest (5-10) player on the Allegheny squad, piled up more than half its points — 34 in all — but it wasn't enough to beat Hiram in its season opener. The score was 69-66.

Jim McDonald paced West Virginia Wesleyan to victory, scoring 37 points. Marietta dropped its second game in three starts.

Ohio Wesleyan poured in 15 straight points to come up from a 4-1 deficit to a 16-4 lead and was never headed thereafter in handing winless Heidelberg its third straight loss.

Fred Polinski's 26 points helped Findlay's Oilers slide by Cedarville. It was Findlay's opening Mid Ohio League battle and gave the Oilers a 3-1 record. Cedarville, winless in the league but 1-5 overall, dropped its third straight loop tilt.

Garp Furin tied a school record set two years ago, pulling down 25 rebounds, as John Carroll evened its record at 2-2. It was Bethany's first defeat after winning two. Furin dropped in 19 points in the Presidents' Athletic Conference tilt.

Snavelly to Retire From Grid Coaching

ST. LOUIS (AP) — One of college football's famed veteran coaches — Carl Snavelly, the "Gray Fox" who coached three bowl teams at North Carolina — is retiring as head coach of Washington University's simon-pure teams.

Snavelly, a noted exponent of the single wing, won 180 games in his 32-year career. His six teams at Washington, despite the school's strict policy of giving no athletic scholarships, won 33 and lost 19.

But Snavelly has reached Washington's retirement age of 65 and his retirement was expected. It was scheduled to be announced at a banquet next week, along with the appointment of Line Coach Lynn Hovland as head coach.

University officials admitted the changeover was all set after the St. Louis Globe-Democrat published the story.

Snavelly said "Well, I guess I'm about the oldest college football coach in the business . . . I can tell you this: I'm extremely happy the way things have been handled."

He said he will continue to make his home in St. Louis and give his attention to business interests here.

Snavelly, noted for his tricky attacks off an unbalanced line, had a record of 180 won, 96 lost and 16 tied for 32 years, 26 in the big time. He coached seven years at Buchnell, nine at Cornell and 10 in two terms at North Carolina.

EAST TECH WINS

Three Tied For First Place

Burton Bumps Farmers Bank; Speaker's, Miller Service Win

Burton Ford, Farmers Bank and Speaker's Market are in a three-way tie for first place in the Wednesday Division of the Salem Basketball League as a result of action Friday night at the Memorial Building.

Each team has a 4-1 record. Farmers Bank, which held a one-game lead previous to last night's games, was defeated by Burton Ford 86-75, and Speaker's Market crushed Salem News 67-42.

In the other two contests, Miller Cities Service won over Rifle's Plumbing 69-59, and Bennett Greenhouse trampled Schaffer Ford 72-50.

Burton Ford took a two-point lead over Farmers in the first period 14-12 and held a one-point margin, 31-30, at the end of the half.

The eventual winners spurred in the third stanza to lead 61-52 entering the final frame.

North Lima Edges Leetonia

2nd Half Spurt Gives Zips Win

Holloway, Radler Lead Bears' Scorers

By HARRY SAVAGE

North Lima's Zippers zipped ahead of Leetonia with a 20-point third quarter and kept their lead through a rough-and-tumble final period to outlast the Bears 46-42 Friday night at Leetonia. Three times during the fourth stanza, play was marred by flying fists brought on by heated tempers as the lead changed hands with each shot. The screams of the crowd were so great in the last few minutes that the players were unable to hear the whistles of the officials.

The Zippers now have a season's record of one victory and three defeats while Leetonia has a one and one record. The Bears will travel to United Local tonight and North Lima plays at Greenford.

COACH LEN BATCHA'S Bears had the upper hand throughout the first half of Friday's game, but the Zippers came out the second half and made a shambles of the Leetonia zone defense. John McGregor, working back and forth under the boards, pushed through nine points in the third quarter for Vernon Hood's North Lima squad. McGregor ended with 13 points to tie for high honors on the Zipper squad with Mel Bowen. North Lima's Jon Culp tallied 11. Leetonia's Larry Holloway was the game's high scorer with 15 points while teammate Lee Radler had 14 points.

Leetonia started the game like a house on fire. The Bears hit on their first three attempts for a quick 6-0 lead before North Lima managed to can a free throw. Then Holloway rammed in two straight push shots and a charity toss by Radler gave the Bears an 11-1 margin. With just three minutes remaining in the first period, McGregor hit on a jump shot for the Zippers first field goal. Bowen scored on a field goal and a free throw and McGregor scored on the fast break to bring North Lima up to a 11-8 deficit as the quarter ended.

IN THE SECOND QUARTER neither team could find the range and most of the scoring was done from close in. Culp scored five points in this stanza, North Lima tied the score midway through the quarter, but Radler and Chuck Lippiatt hit long jump shots to give the lead back to the Bears. As the halftime gun sounded, Leetonia owned a 23-19 lead.

Both teams found the baskets hard to come by in the first half of play. With each squad playing a shifting zone defense, the majority of the shots were falling short. It was Radler and Holloway's control of the boards that kept the Bears in the lead for the first 16 minutes.

As the second half began, the Zippers installed a new offense. Coach Hood had the 5-11 McGregor working under the boards, taking the passes from 6-2 Lee Moore, who was playing the high post. McGregor pushed through four field goals and a free throw in the quarter as the Zips outscored Leetonia 20-14 and raced to a 39-37 lead as the third quarter ended.

Bowen popped in a jump shot from the free throw line to start the final period and the Zippers had a 41-37 lead. Leetonia missed a couple of bunny shots and a pass went astray before the Bears finale countered with a pair of free throws by Lippiatt.

WITH A LITTLE MORE than five minutes remaining in the game, Leetonia lost their center, Gene Leffler, on personal fouls. Leffler had contributed only one point for the Bears, but the rugged pivotman had garnered his share of rebounds. Bowen hit on both of the foul shots and the Zips had a four point lead back Terry Tilley and Radler scored on consecutive jump shots and Leetonia tied North Lima with four minutes remaining.

Soon after the Bears tied the game, tempers flared on a jump ball situation and a few shoves were exchanged. Leffler leaped from the bench and joined in the fray, but before any more trouble was caused, the referees quieted the uprising and awarded a free throw to North Lima, charging a technical foul to Leffler. Bowen canned the charity shot and the Zips eased into the lead.

THE BEARS NOW had to get their hands on the ball. Radler fouled Moore, but the bespectacled center pushed through both shots and North Lima now owned a 46-43 margin, with less than a minute to play.

Leetonia raced down the floor and Radler hit a push shot from the corner. The Zippers came back down and waited for one final shot. The last attempt was no good, but North Lima had their 46-45 victory. As the game ended, both teams showed that their outbursts of temper were brought about by the heat of action and there were no post-game outbreaks.

The preliminary game was just

Boozer Leads Kansas State Past Bears

By The Associated Press

Taking Horace Greeley's 19th century advice, Kansas State and Iowa State invaded the Far West for college basketball games this weekend.

Kansas State, the defending Big Eight champion and the No. 3 team in the weekly Associated Press poll, nosed out California 68-65 on Bob Boozer's two baskets in the final 20 seconds Friday night.

UCLA and Southern California, however, proved rude hosts to seventh-ranked Kansas and unrated Iowa State. The Uclans subdued Kansas 72-61 while the Trojans downed Iowa State 71-62.

In other top games fourth-ranked West Virginia won its fifth straight, a 101-63 thrashing of Duke in a game that was postponed from Thursday night. Pitt and Duquesne made it an all-Pittsburgh final in the Steel Bowl Tourney at Pittsburgh. Big Bob Slobodnik sparked the Dukes to a 71-54 triumph over Clemson and little Don Hennon triggered Pitt to a 69-65 victory over Miami (Fla) in the opening round.

The touring midlanders remain on the West Coast tonight but change foes. Kansas State plays San Francisco, Kansas meets Southern California and Iowa State opposes UCLA.

Wichita, of the Missouri Valley Conference, also embarked on a five-game Pacific Coast jaunt Friday night, bowing to Oregon 73-57. The Wheat Shockers face Oregon State tonight.

Walt Torrence racked up 30 points in spearheading UCLA to its conquest of the Jayhawks.

Southern California pulled away from Iowa State in the closing minutes after the Cyclones had narrowed an 11-point halftime deficit to two points.

Oregon opened up a 23-point advantage over Wichita midway in the second half after being ahead at halftime 39-30.

Jerry West and Bob Smith provided West Virginia with a potent one-two scoring punch while the Mountaineers avenged their only regular season loss in 1957-58. The reversal was the worst in Duke's history.

West collected 29 points and Smith contributed 26.

Slobodnik, a 6-9 sophomore, accounted for 17 points and stood out defensively in Duquesne's lack of Clemson.

Hennon, the 5-8 All-American, paved the way for the Pitt conquest of Miami with a 26-point outburst.

Pistons Top Warriors, Knicks Ease by Hawks

By The Associated Press

The Pistons are working very smoothly at Detroit. And that means trouble for the St. Louis Hawks, who are not flying very high or fast these days.

While the Pistons were chalking up their fourth straight NBA victory Saturday night with a 97-95 decision over the Philadelphia Warriors, the Hawks were falling before the New York Knicks 106-104 for their third setback in a smelly night.

As the result the Hawks' first place lead over the Pistons in the Western Division today had dwindled to two games.

The Knicks just managed to hold first place in the Eastern Division as the second place Boston Celtics beat out the Cincinnati Royals 125-115 in overtime. Only 15 percentage points separated the two teams.

Exciting as the main event as Leetonia reserves came from behind to nip the little Zippers by a 30-28 score in overtime. Bob Gullet scored the winning basket for the Bears. Jim Franko and Russ Lehman had ten points each to pace the victors, while Jim Reed also had ten to lead the North Lima scorers.

North Lima — 46
Bowen 4, 5, 13; James 0, 0, 0; McGregor 5, 3, 13; Seider 0, 0, 0; Dillon 0, 1, 1; Culp 4, 3, 11; Moore 2, 4, 8.

Leetonia — 45
Lippiatt 4, 3, 11; Tilley 2, 0, 4; Franko 0, 0, 0; Radler 5, 4, 14; Holloway 7, 1, 15; Leffler 0, 1, 1.

North Lima 8 19 39 46
Leetonia 11 23 37 45

Monkey

Army Ballistic Missile Agency announced in Washington that the nose cone hit in the intended target area.

The Army described the squirrel monkey, as "an intelligent monkey native to Central and South America." It added:

"Although not in any way related to the squirrel, this monkey gets its name from the similarity to the squirrel in size and in the color of its coat. It is a small, active tree-hunting gentle creature with a long rather bushy squirrel-like tail and tufted ears.

"Physical characteristics: average length of head and body is 10 to 15 inches. Its thick bushy tail is from 14 to 19 inches long.

Extremely Sensitive

"Average weight of the squirrel monkey is two to three pounds. It will live in captivity for 10 to 15 years. It is a tropical monkey accustomed to temperatures around 75 degrees Fahrenheit. It is extremely sensitive to changes in temperature.

"The squirrel monkey has the same anatomical makeup as man and undergoes much the same emotions."

An Army spokesman described the launching as a "most successful shot."

The test would be a major milestone in man's bid to conquer space if the monkey survived the blazing re-entry of the rocket cone through the earth's atmosphere at speeds reaching 10,500 m.p.h.

The most famous animal space passenger to date has been Laika, the dog which was hurled into orbit around the globe in Russia's Sputnik II satellite Nov. 3, 1957. Laika perished shortly after the Red moon plopped into orbit.

Up to now, the United States has fired three white mice some 6,000 miles across the sea in Air Force Thor-Able rockets, but their nose cone space shells were never found. Instruments showed that on two of the flights the mice probably survived the re-entry and splashed into the ocean and died later.

Roared Into Sky

The 50-ton rocket roared into the starlit sky amid billows of white flame and smoke.

The Army kept a tight cloak of security around the big project until several minutes after launching when it announced simply that "the nose cone of this missile contained a primate on a biomedical experiment."

It was believed the monkey was made quite comfortable for his hectic space flight more than 600 miles above the earth.

A team of top biomedical specialists were waiting at the Cape for word of the monkey's fate.

The monkey, unofficially dubbed "Gordo" after a comic strip character, probably had an adequate oxygen supply and some type of food included in his tight space chamber.

In Washington, the Army said the Navy was assigned to try to locate the cone and its monkey passenger at sea.

The Army termed the launching a continuation of tests of an inertial guidance system, warhead protection and the arming system.

It added:

Continued Study

"The Army continued its Operation Gaslight study in connection with this flight to obtain infra red and photographic data from bodies re-entering the earth's atmosphere. Special equipment for this purpose was installed on one of the ships near the impact area.

"The Gaslight team was prepared to measure radiation emitted by each of the three sections of the Jupiter, separated during the flight, as a function of space and time and to investigate shock waves and aerodynamic characteristics."

Barclay said initial reports indicated success in what he called the missile's primary mission of testing its guidance system, warhead protection and arming system.

This was the 12th time a Jupiter has been launched since March 1957.

It blew up for the first time shortly after launching on the last shot on Oct. 9. In addition to the explosion, there have been six landings considered completely successful and four partial successes.

Today, the launching appeared perfect. The missile rose straight up, pouring out a huge tail of white fume.

After about 75 seconds it curved, high in the Florida sky, and roared eastward until engine burnout occurred after about three minutes and it disappeared.

The 68-foot Jupiter also provided the booster power for the first Army space probe which sped some 66,000 miles into space before plummeting back to earth after a spectacular launching a week ago.

Minister

While he awaited the verdict, he read calmly from a book by Albert Schweitzer.

Only after the jury's verdict — reached in only 19 minutes of deliberation — did he break his silence. Even then, he said only: "There is one thing I'd like to say. It is my earnest prayer that the government will stop its war preparations and honor the consciences of those who would stop these evils."

Before sentencing, Judge Druffel disclosed that only a week ago, at a pretrial hearing, he offered probation to the minister in return for a plea of nolo contendere (no contest).

But the minister of Cincinnati's St. Barnabas Presbyterian and Episcopal church refused to have anything to do with the legal fight.

Faced with complete lack of cooperation by their client, Berry and Dewey based almost their entire case on a contention the summons which Sev. McCrackin refused to honor was invalid, that it was issued by a person without authority to issue it.

While Rev. McCrackin has failed even to file income tax returns for 1955 and 1956 on grounds much of the money would have been used for armaments, the trial did not strike at the heart of this issue. It was concerned solely with his refusal to answer the summons to discuss his tax troubles.
